

CITY SALT LAKE WEEKLY FREE

SAT4

■ Decisions, decisions. At Blockbuster, it takes at least an hour to decide between the comedy and the love story, and well, by that time, you may want the horror movie. But, really—why choose one when you can choose both, right? Thinking right along those lines, there is a crowd that completely agrees with you. Celebrate the virtue of indecisiveness tonight by attending GENDER NEUTRAL, AN EVENING OF QUEER ART at the Rose Wagner Black Box Theatre. Headliner Sean Dorsey (a transgender artist/choreographer from San Francisco) shatters the stereotypical two-gender standards and playfully breaks the boundaries in society through modern dance. He has performed at a number of queer arts festivals throughout the United States and Canada, showcasing his unique artistry. Others in the event are performance artist Jeffrey Gunshol, experimental dance artist Michaela Cannon and “Miraj,” a local gender-bending hip-hop troupe. Salt Lake’s very own homo rock opera, “Rope or Bullets,” will also be performing. Gender Neutral, An Evening of Queer Art @ Rose Wagner Black Box Theatre, 138 W. Broadway, Sept. 3 & 4, 8 p.m. Tickets: $15, 355-ARTS.
