

KQED

DANCE - SAN FRANCISCO

Sean Dorsey Dance – THE MISSING GENERATION

Sean Dorsey is a transgender dancer/choreographer with a powerful movement style, a keen talent for storytelling, and a deep investment in LGBT history. His newest full-length dance theater work, “The Missing Generation,” preserves the voices of first-hand witnesses to the 1990s AIDS epidemic by mixing extensive oral history interviews with Dorsey’s own writing. Commissioned by the prestigious Bates Dance Festival, “The Missing Generation” features a commanding veteran cast (including former ODC Dance star Brian Fisher) and original music by four gifted composers. Knowing Dorsey’s previous work, it’s safe to predict this production will be equally poignant and thought-provoking.

— Rachel Howard

Dance Mission (May 14 - May 17, 2015)

TIX/INFO: www.seandorseydance.com