

Fresh, Transgendered Meat Rocks San Fran

Lively LGTB performers will put on quite the show at the 9th Annual Fresh Meat Festival happening tomorrow (Jun. 17) through Sunday (Jun. 20) in San Francisco.

Wednesday, June 16, 2010 1:47 GMT

SAN FRANCISCO (Wireless Flash - FlashNews) – Transgendered performers sure know how to put on a show.

The LGBT community is taking the stage for the 9th Annual Fresh Meat Festival happening tomorrow (Jun. 17) through Sunday (Jun. 20) in San Francisco.

The event features queer and transgendered performers dazzling spectators with their talent, and Artistic Director Sean Dorsey says the shows should be “phenomenal” since the LGBT community knows how to wow a crowd.

He explains, “The reason queer and transgender performers are so fresh is because they face so many barriers in terms of the media and venues. They’re forced to work on their craft and have a level of consciousness they bring to art making.”

Among the performances will be a “Vogue-off” as an homage to the Madonna classic, a dance number inspired by gay Craigslist hookups, tranny glam rock sessions, and gay Filipino love songs sung by a men’s choir.