

The New York Times

6 Dance Performances to See in N.Y.C. This Weekend

Our guide to dance performances happening this weekend and the week ahead.

By Brian Schaefer

LIVE ARTERY at New York Live Arts (through Jan. 14). This showcase of contemporary and experimental dance provides a welcome opportunity to see works you may have missed in the past year or would like to see again, as well as premieres of and excerpts from works in progress. The range of artists is eclectic: Molly Lieber and Eleanor Smith continue their intimate exploration of trauma (Saturday, 9 p.m.; Sunday, noon) while Sean Dorsey, a San Francisco-based choreographer and dancer, examines masculinity from a trans and queer perspective (Sunday, 8:30 p.m.; Monday, 8 p.m.; Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.). Other participants include Kimberly Bartosik, Jaamil Olawale Kosoko and Yanira Castro.

212-691-6500, newyorklivearts.org

<https://www.nytimes.com/2020/01/09/arts/dance/nyc-this-weekend-dance.html>